National English Competition 2025 (NEON) Binus University

Newscasting Competition

This first experience in newscasting felt like stepping into an entirely new world, one that challenged me in ways I never anticipated. I grew with every rehearsal, every rewrite, and every run-through, and I could feel myself becoming sharper because I and the people guiding me refused to settle for “good enough.”

Debate Competition

Competitive debating became a turning point in my college journey, and describing its impact feels almost impossible. I discovered what real teamwork looks like as I and my teammates pushed one another to think sharper, argue clearer, and grow with every round. The guidance I received from feedback sessions to late-night practice debates kept strengthening my confidence and my craft.

This first experience in debate became something far bigger than a competition for me, Lael, and Che. We walked in as three people who liked to argue ideas, and we walked out feeling like a team that had built something together. Every practice round pushed us to think faster and speak clearer, and each of us carried the others whenever confidence slipped. The guidance we received through endless revisions, strategy talks, and honest feedback kept shaping us into stronger debaters than we realized.

Paper Presentation Competition

3rd Place Winner

Anya Monica Purnomo
(2022)

Earning 3rd place was a reminder that persistence carries its own quiet strength, especially when supported by mentors and friends who kept pushing me to refine each idea and speak with clarity. The achievement itself mattered, but the real milestone was realizing that I am capable of producing work even on my final year as a law student

Paper Presentation Competition

Presenting a paper for the first time became a turning point in how I approached academic work. Preparing the argument, refining the structure, and defending each point in front of an audience demanded a level of precision and confidence I had never practiced before. The real impact came from realizing that research gains meaning when it is shared, challenged, and strengthened through open academic exchange.

Essay Writing Competition

Starting this essay competition for the first time turned out to be such a meaningful experience. With Aya and Lira beside me, and a mentor who supported us through every step, I grew more than I ever expected. The win was sweet, but the growth and the people who helped me get there made it truly unforgettable.

Model United Nations

My first Model United Nations didn't feel like stepping into a conference room; it felt like stepping into a different version of myself. I walked in unsure of whether I could keep up with the rapid-fire speeches and the delegates who seemed to know exactly what they were doing. Somewhere between drafting clauses at midnight and negotiating with people I had never met, I found a rhythm I didn't know I had.

Poster Competition

Zahiira Azizi Ramdhani
(2024)

Joining a poster competition turned out to be one of the most rewarding moments of my final year. I started with a simple idea and watched it grow through countless sketches, redesigns, and feedback sessions that pushed me to think more visually and communicate more precisely. Presenting the final poster felt like unveiling a piece of work that held every bit of that effort.

Voiceover Competition

2nd Place Winner
Izzudin Adl. Ramadhan
(2024)

Voiceover competition turned out to be a lot more special than I thought it would be. I went in just wanting to try something new, but every recording session taught me the importance of bringing a little emotion into a few seconds of audio. The feedback I got along the way really helped me figure out what worked and what didn't. Ending up with 2nd place felt unreal,

Essay Writing Competition

Winning 1st place in the essay competition still feels a little unreal. I spent so many days rewriting paragraphs, fixing transitions, and doubting every idea that seeing it all pay off hit different. The whole process taught me how much stronger my writing becomes when I slow down, think deeper, and let the message take shape naturally. The support I got from people who read my drafts helped me polish the piece into something I was genuinely proud of.

Essay Writing Competition

Embarking on my first essay competition opened an unexpected path of growth. Working alongside committed teammates and receiving steady encouragement from a mentor shaped the journey far more than the outcome ever could. The lasting value came from the skills strengthened, the confidence built, and the shared commitment that made the entire experience memorable.

Essay Writing Competition

Getting 2nd place in the essay competition in Bandung was such a rewarding moment. I had spent days fixing wording, tightening the flow, and stressing over whether my argument actually landed, so hearing my name called felt like everything finally came together. Competing there added its own kind of energy, the atmosphere, the people, the nerves right before presenting, all of it pushed me to bring my best.

1st Place Winner

(2024)

This first place win is my breakthrough moment in college and I can barely put into words how much it means to me. Working with Jonathan felt like true partnership where we lifted each other up, and our mentor's relentless support in refining our essay and preparing us for the finals was everything. More than the trophy, this experience showed me that when you find the right people who genuinely invest in your growth, you can achieve things you once only dreamed about.

The competition seemed daunting to us, as We had never participated in any competitions during our university days. However, thanks to the encouragement of our mentor, We mustered up the courage to participate in the essay competition. Throughout the competition, we were guided by a mentor who was very supportive of our team's performance. This certainly had a huge impact on our my first victory.
