Event Review

Krida Mahasiswa

ALSA LC UB

Krida Mahasiswa

Krida Mahasiswa (KRIMA) is one of annual event held by Faculty of Law Universitas Brawijaya, where freshmen gathered in one big packed room, with the purpose of introducing them to variety of activities other than just learning in class. This event is essential for freshmen to considering and deciding which club would they join to fulfill their university journey ahead.

The way it works is very simple. Each club or organization will perform a 15 minute show explaining what they are and what they do. Kind of like advertising. This 15 minute is critical to leave impression to innocent freshmen and to caught their attention.

This year is indifferent. KRIMA was held on Saturday September 1st 2018 and ALSA Local Chapter UB, as one of the official organization, took part to perform at the event. It was a big day with a major preparation for organization with many members like us. We were all ready and excited, everyone dressed with garments written “ALSA” on it, wanted to look our best.

The show begins with our director, Rizki Bahrudin give a little greeting speech to the audience. In that moment as well, the dramatic banners with ALSA adverted as the design, rolling down from the second floor as if to let you know that our performance has just started. Turns out the audience not only greeted with our director, but also from Presidents of some other National Chapter of ALSA. In the form of video, Presidents giving their warmest welcome to new students and encourage them to join ALSA. This segment apparently caught their attention because it shows how big and global ALSA International is.

The speech and greetings followed up by another co-host, April, calling out pairs of members that are presenting 14 Local Chapters. Audience was clapping and cheering when Local Chapters called out one by one and models came out as a couple, looking very friendly, waving and smiling. Traditional music from each Local Chapters region played in the background as the models walking around the group of freshmen.

The excitement continues when Board of Director of ALSA Local Chapter UB came down the stairs and began to introduce and explain more about our Local Chapter. The show ended with the members singing ALSA Anthem with flags of many other National Chapters in their hands. It was such a joy for us to be able to meet freshmen in such a fun way!

“How it feels? 50% excited 50% scared”

“Alsa itu terlalu besar untuk dibesar-besarkan, terlalu kecil untuk dikecil-kecilkan”.

Saban Hari Sebatang Kara

“Alsa is home when you discovered your undiscovered potential”.

Hahahaha it's alright mine is 3.3”.

We had some chit-chat with Charlos Sianturi and Fransisca Regina during their busy schedule, Charlos as project officer of OLMA 2018 and Sisca as “koordinator kakak pembimbing”. It was a casual afternoon talks after we had a serious talks at the meeting of Local Board of ALSA LCUB talking about each division progressed . The conversations just flow by itself, from talking about their experience as a freshman, homesick until their hope for ALSA in the future.

Can you please tell us how was it feel as a freshman? Including your early experience in ALSA.

S: As a new student, I was really shocked facing the fact that within 2 weeks after OLMA, I have to be Project Officer for ALSA Care. There was suddenly a lot of tasks, here and there, that has to be done. But after all, it gave me so much precious experience, especially from seniors. So, any tasks afterwards feel so much easier.

C: When I first enter university, I was determined to change my lifestyle. I usually kind of lazy, so I thought of join an organization in order to overcome that bad habit. Even before officially join ALSA, I was introduced briefly about ALSA by the seniors, One thing I remember doing back then is that I was helping seniors to selling products to fund OLMA, even though I was actually the participant of it. After I became the project officer of Muslok, the seniors never stop guided me to make an event, managing courtesy, even time and money management as well.

So, you're both crowned as Best Participant of OLMA 2016, how to reach there and what it takes?

S: I don't think I'd call myself very interactive, but I was more about following the instruction and procedure as best as I can. I was also very enthusiastic because I haven't joined any courtesy before. I, myself, was very shocked to be the best participant, but because I was making it feel fun, I was able to answer many questions.

C: At first, I was shocked that I crowned because I thought the other participants were did very well too. But I think it was because the speakers on OLMA making me curios, I asked a buch of questions.

As a student in Malang, you guys are far from your hometown, tell us your early experience of living alone in Malang?

S: 50% excited 50% sacred because I have to live on my own, shop things on my own, but because it was a process of maturation. I did a lot of things I never did at home like doing my laundry, feed myself, managing money so I spend wisely because I can't just ask my parents now.

C: My answer pretty much alike with Sisca's answer. But when students are far from hometown, one thing I experience often is homesick

One of my way to make you forget about homesick is being in an organization. I feel like a cure to homesickness. Because finally I met friends and that's what I call my second family

Have you guys ever suffered from Homesick?

S: Often times. Because I study out of town, I miss lots of moments with family. I miss many family gatherings, I can't hang out with my friends seated in Jakarta. What Carlos said earlier was right, the cure to homesick is to keeping ourselves busy so that we forget about the homesick.

C: I have experience homesick but it didn't make cry Sisca did. But because of that I really keeping myself busy in campus, spend more times with friends, don't let ourselves be alone too long. Other benefits of joining organization is that we can develop ourselves.

So you guys are agree that one of the effective methods to deal with homesick is to keep yourself busy at campus?

S: Yes keeping ourselves busy with positive activities, including being in an organization. It will be very useful in the future.

You have been talking about organizational experiences but none of you have talked about your study in university. I am curious to know how do you guys manage your time between organization and collage life?

C: First of all, we need to set off the priority scale, because our main purpose is to study and be liable to our parents. So never subordinate study. But time management wise, honestly, sometimes I skip class because Alsa's project. But as long as it stays on track, remember your limit, I think it's alright. Still, studying is our main purpose.

S: Unlike Carlos, I try my best to avoid skipping class because of Alsa's project. Why do we have to take our study for granted when we can actually prepare the project before or after the class? Sometimes one lecture took only short time anyway. For study and test, my organization partner and friends usually respect that. It all depend on ourselves.

Is your GPA fine?

C: Hahahaha it's alright mine is 3.3

S: My GPA is 3.4

So with being active in an organization, your GPA can still be maintain alright. Lastly, what your hope and message for the pre-member of ALSA?

S: I hope Alsa is taken more seriously so member can actually take benefits from it. Here's a quote from my seniors "Alsa itu terlalu besar untuk dibesar besarkan, terlalu kecil untuk dikecil-kecilkan". I think it's very ture, so I hope pre-members count Alsa as a part of them because when you do that, you'll try you're best not to fail, and it's actually building your personality with Alsa into something better.

C: Don't be afraid to evolve. Some people might say, to be a member of Alsa, you need to be really good at English, but I don't think that's really true because I think Alsa is the platform to learn, and there will seniors who are willingly and gladly guide and support you to become even better than they are. There are so many benefits by joining Alsa, some of them are to participate in National or International events of Alsa.

Is there anything you would like to deliver more?

c. Alsa is home when you discovered your undiscovered potential,

S: Don't be afraid to be a part of Alsa, keep developing Alsa to be even better than it already is.

ALSA VISIT UNUD

Written by Hana Mutia

ALSA Visit is one of the biggest event some local chapter has, where they can strengthen the bond between other local chapter who they'll pick to be the local chapter host and this event is expected that in the future, this two local chapter will be able to establish a good corporation between the two of them. This year, ALSA LC UB got a chance to be the local chapter host from ALSA LC Unud and was held in July 16th 2018 - July 20th 2018.

ALSA Visit was opened with academic sessions that held in Auditorium Faculty of Law, Universitas Brawijaya and its discuss about "Makna Kebhinekaan Bagi Mahasiswa dalam Menjaga Persatuan Bangsa dan Negara Indonesia". Then followed with ALSA Local Chapter Sharing by each of local chapter.

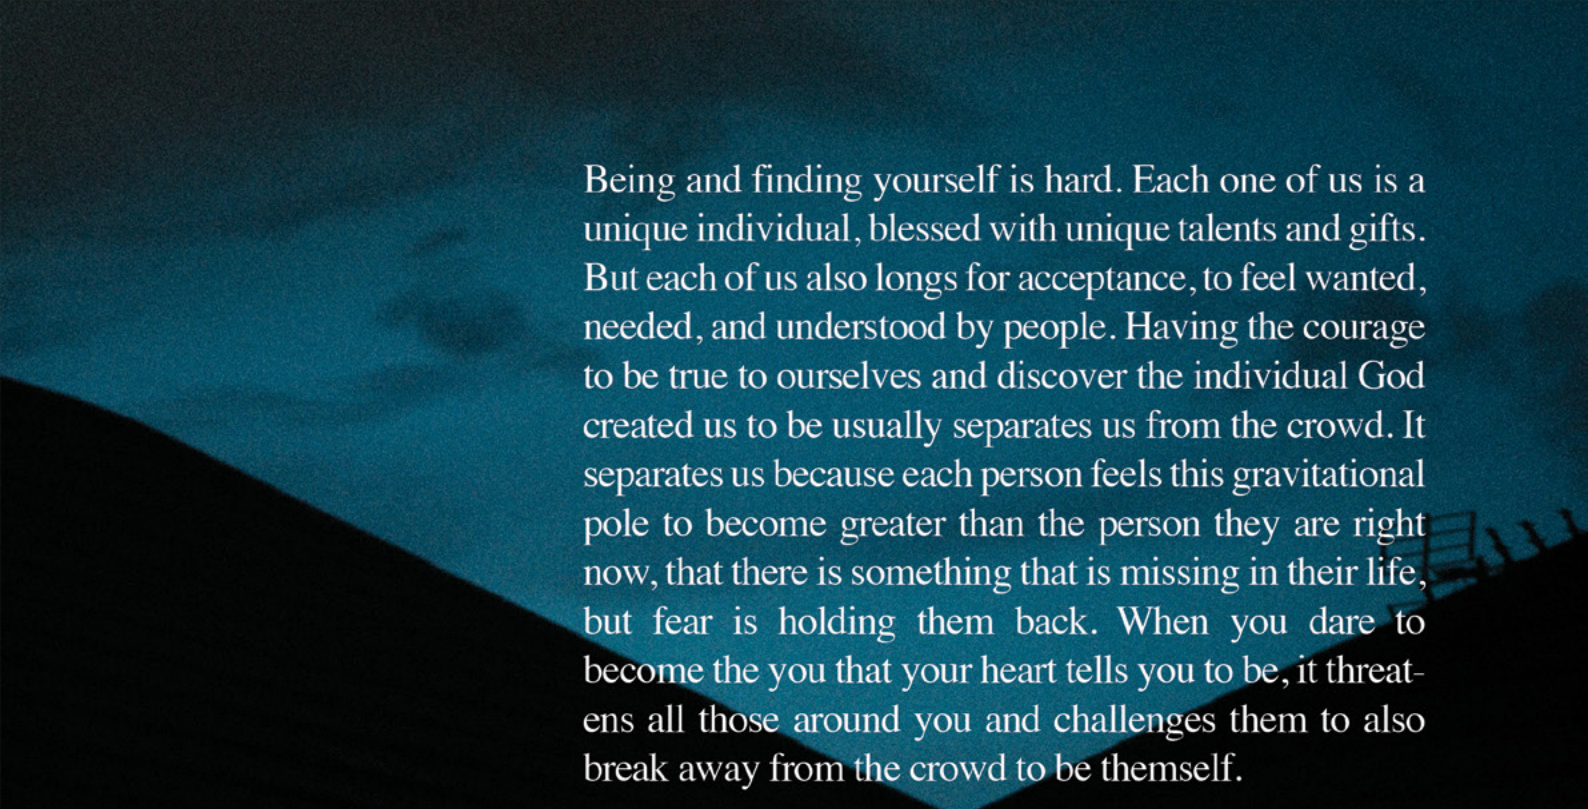

On day two, we're going to Mount Bromo, it took 3 to 4 hours until arrive at Mount Bromo. It was very cold up there, the temperature touch 8 degrees! But that's all paid off with a beautiful sunrise, bromo crater, and savana.

We start our event by doing amazing race on day three, by participating this games we are all expected to be more close to each of ALSA LC Unud and ALSA LC UB members. Also, there was a gala dinner at the end of the day.

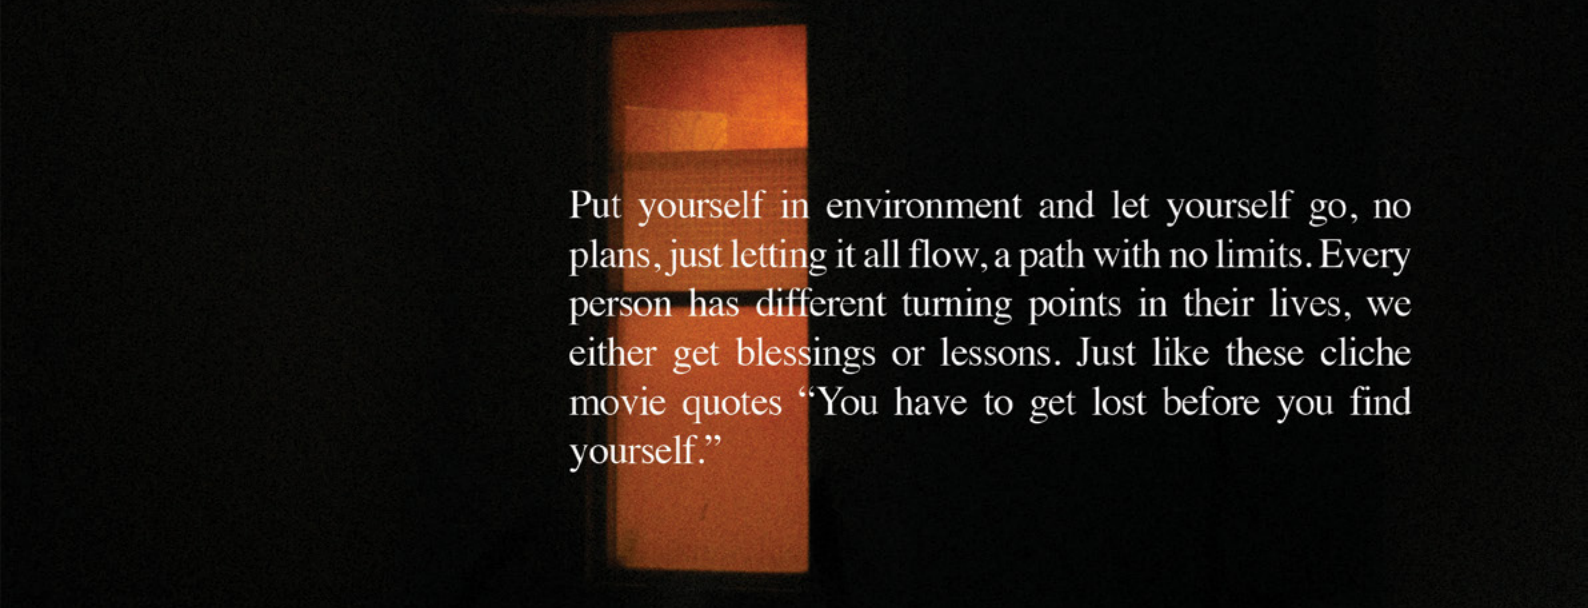

ALSA Visit was closed by going to bought some souvenirs. Then, the last place we're heading was to Museum Angkut to take a lot of picture there. It was such a pleasure to meet our friends from ALSA LC Unud and hope we can keep our good relationship.

We've journeyed. Along the way, life has pulled us in different directions, introduced us to new faces and places and given us a completely new perspective about each person and place. Life is moving quickly, It can seem like humanity is on a treadmill, moving quickly but not changing. It's just a matter of perception, seeing things from a new place. The universe has a lot of space for it. But the question is, are we discovered it enough?

Being and finding yourself is hard. Each one of us is a unique individual, blessed with unique talents and gifts. But each of us also longs for acceptance, to feel wanted, needed, and understood by people. Having the courage to be true to ourselves and discover the individual God created us to be usually separates us from the crowd. It separates us because each person feels this gravitational pole to become greater than the person they are right now, that there is something that is missing in their life, but fear is holding them back. When you dare to become the you that your heart tells you to be, it threatens all those around you and challenges them to also break away from the crowd to be themselves.

Put yourself in environment and let yourself go, no plans, just letting it all flow, a path with no limits. Every person has different turning points in their lives, we either get blessings or lessons. Just like these cliché movie quotes “You have to get lost before you find yourself.”
